Salon von Nicole Adler
Schwarzenbergplatz 10/2/6

The exhibition SHE.MADE, curated by Anna Prinzhorn, will open at Nicole Adlers Salon am Schwarzenbergplatz on April 28, 2022, featuring the work of nine female designers and six female-led design studios who have had a significant impact on contemporary product design in Austria and beyond over the past decades.

On display will be works by the studios Onka Allmayr Beck, Dottings, Lucy.D, POLKA, ONE FOR HUNDRED and Nadja Zerunian. Also on view will be the photographic work of Luise Hardegg, who staged the "Corona Benches" by Dottings and POLKA as an example of their designs in public space, as well as a video portrait of the exhibiting designers by Theresa Eltz.

The exhibition is presented as an installation of an intimate living space, in which the objects seem to fit casually and naturally into their surroundings. Just as good design does.

"It is a personal concern of mine to show the work of these eight outstanding contemporary product designers to a broader public. These women, each in her own way, have been shaping contemporary Austrian design for decades and are inspiring to me, both as designers and as entrepreneurs and people," says curator Anna Prinzhorn, a designer herself.
